-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Priority

The Examiner acknowledges the Applicant's claim to provisional patent application serial no. 60/248025, filed 11-13-00.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 3-23-01 was filed in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement has been considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claims 1-21 are directed to non-statutory subject matter because they lack any recitation of technology in the body of the claims, which is required in order to meet the statutory requirements. The Patent Office had taken the position that some form of technology must be claimed in the body of the claim. The Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences has stated that claims lacking any technology are "nothing more than [an] abstract idea which is not tied to any technological art and is not a useful art as contemplated by the

Art Unit: 3624

Constitution.” Ex parte Bowman, 61 USPQ2d 1669, 1671 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 2001)

(Unpublished). While it is understood that the Bowman case is not precedential, it is cited herein for its content and reasoning. The Examiner suggests amending the claims to include some language directed to a computer in the body of the claim to overcome this rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Art Unit: 3624

Claims 1-9 and 11-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the Peters et al. patent (US 5,884,284).

The Peters patent discloses a method comprising:

Providing a service to a customer, the service being measurable in quantifiable service units by the customer such that billing for the service to the customer is based at least in part on a number of the service units used (col. 29, lines 3-18),

Allowing the customer to obtain service unit credits to be applied against service units used by the customer (col. 29, lines 3-18),

Billing for the service to the customer according to a billing cycle (col. 29, lines 3-18),

For each billing cycle:

Applying service unit credits obtained by the customer and extant against the service units used by the customer during the billing cycle (col. 29, lines 3-18), and

If service unit credits remain after applying the service unit credits obtained by the customer and extant against the service units used by the customer, carrying forward the remaining service unit credits to be available during a subsequent billing cycle (col. 29, lines 3-18), and

Allowing the customer to treat service unit credits as a commodity, whereby the commoditized service unit credits may be bought, sold, and/or traded for services and/or goods (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 1);

Providing a predetermined number of the service unit credits to the customer as part of a predetermined service package (col. 29, lines 3-18 and col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 2);

Art Unit: 3624

Providing a predetermined number of the service unit credits to the customer for each billing cycle as part of a predetermined service package (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 3);

Allowing the customer to purchase service unit credits in addition to the service unit credits provided as part of the service package (col. 29, lines 1-18) (Claim 4);

Allowing the customer to purchase the service unit credits from a provider of the service (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 5);

Allowing the customer to purchase the service unit credits prior to applying such purchased credits against service units used by the customer (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 6);

Allowing the customer to purchase the service unit credits after it is determined that excess service units used by the customer exist after all service unit credits obtained by the customer have been applied against such service units used by the customer, the purchased service units credits being applied against such excess service units (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 7);

The service is provided by a service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31) and

Allowing the customer to obtain the service unit credits from a third party other than the service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 8);

Allowing the customer to obtain the service unit credits from the third party as a promotion (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 9);

Allowing the customer to obtain the service unit credits from the third party as part of a revenue operation operated by the third party (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 11);

The service is provided by a service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31) and

Art Unit: 3624

Allowing the customer to purchase the service unit credits from a third party other than the service provider, the third party having obtained the service credit units from the service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 12);

Providing cellular telephone service to the customer (col. 2, lines 33-44) (Claim 13);

Providing cellular telephone service to the customer, the service being measurable in minutes (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 14);

Providing a service to the customer selected from a group consisting of gas or electric or cable television or Internet access utility service, a landline telephone service, a repair service, and a goods providing service (col. 2, lines 33-44 and col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 15);

For an (n)th billing cycle, carrying forward the remaining service unit credits comprises carrying forward such remaining credits to be available during an (n+1)th billing cycle (col. 28, lines 62-67) (Claim 16);

If excess service units used by the customer exist after all service unit credits obtained by the customer have been applied against such service units used by the customer, carrying forward the excess service units to a subsequent billing cycle and applying service unit credits subsequently obtained by the customer against the carried-forward service units (col. 29, lines 3-17) (Claim 17);

The service is provided by a service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31) and

Allowing the customer to expend service unit credits on goods and/or services provided by the service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 18);

The service is provided by a service provided (col. 31, lines 9-31) and

Art Unit: 3624

Allowing the customer to expend service unit credits on goods and/or services provided by a third party other than the service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31) (Claim 19); and

The service is provided by a service provider (col. 31, lines 9-31).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Peters patent.

The Peters patent discloses all the elements of the claimed invention, except for:

Allowing the customer to obtain the service unit credits from the third party at a discounted rate (Claim 10). The Peters patent teaches mixes of subscriptions of services offered by cable companies together with wireless or wired telephones, wherein such services are offered by a television company and a telephone company, hence a third party. The Examiner takes Official Notice that it is commonly known in the art that when services are combined, discounts are available because the services can be offered to a large volume of users.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Peters, Cauffman and Gilmore patents are directed to various types of electronic account management systems.
